Waters in the Fire: Sophomore defensive specialist Christie Waters found herself thrust into the starting libero role last weekend, and went on to turn in a career-high 21 digs versus Coastal Carolina. She entered the Purdue match in relief of the injured junior Alyssa Río in the second set and finished the contest with eight digs. She also scored seven digs versus Dayton. Waters finished the week with a team-best 3.60 digs-per-set average, which ranks ninth in the league entering the week.

Felton Capitalizes versus Coastal: In her first action with the Cardinals, redshirt freshman Andrea Felton posted her first career double-double with 44 assists and 10 digs in last Saturday’s match versus Coastal Carolina. Making her first career start as well, Felton led the Cardinals to a season-best .190 attack percentage versus the Chanticleers.

Breivogel Breaks 1,000: With five kills in last Saturday’s morning match versus Dayton, senior outside attacker Julie Breivogel became just the 10th player in program history to record 1,000 career kills. The moment came on her last kill of the contest, which occurred with BSU trailing 15-19 in the second set. Breivogel went on to add a season-high 22 kills versus Coastal Carolina. She entered the Purdue match in relief of the injured junior Aylin Kakatolis to move her career total to 1,000. Breivogel needs 114 more kills to pass Mindy Stanley’s (1993-96) career total of 1,135 kills for ninth on BSU’s all-time list.

Kakatolis Climbing the Blocking Charts: Senior opposite side attacker Elaina Kakatolis collected three block assists last weekend to move her career total to 192. She is nine block assists shy of breaking into the top 20 in BSU annals. Her 212 career total blocks are also 22 shy of breaking into the top 20 in program history. In addition, her 678 career kills leave her 93 markers away from the top 20 in BSU annals. Kakatolis is just nine assists shy of breaking into the top 10 in career assists. She is 12 blocks from breaking into the top 10 in career blocks, 15 from entering the top 10 in career block assists, and six from entering the top 10 in career block assists.

OVER THE AIR WAVES: The Ball State women’s volleyball team has the most comprehensive radio package in the Mid-American Conference, as WCRD 91.3 FM will once again be the radio home of the Cardinals for the 2009 season. The station is slated to cover all 11 of the Cardinals home matches this season, as well as select road contests and all of BSU’s 2009 MAC Tournament action. The state-of-the-art WCRD studio will be the home of “Serving It Up” with Dave Boos, a weekly volleyball report which airs Monday nights from 7 to 8 p.m. beginning Aug. 31.

ON THE TUBE: The Ball State Sports Network will televise a pair of BSU matches (Oct. 24 versus Miami and Nov. 12 versus Toledo), while Ball State Sports Link is slated to webcast at least one match.

Head Coach Dave Boos

Third Season • 17-49 Overall • 10-22 MAC

Dave Boos enters his third season as the head women’s volleyball coach at Ball State University looking to guide the Cardinals back to the NCAA Tournament for the eighth time in program history.

Boos was named the fifth head women’s volleyball coach in BSU history on Jan. 8, 2007, after completing his third season as associate head coach and fifth season overall at the University of Minnesota in 2006.

“We are very fortunate to have someone the caliber of Dave join the Ball State family,” said BSU Director of Athletics Tom Collins. “He is one of the most talented young coaches of this generation and will be an excellent representative for the Ball State women’s volleyball program. He is a consummate competitor, technician and recruiter, who continues to excel as a student and teacher of the game.”

“I am thrilled to have the opportunity to direct the Ball State women’s volleyball program,” said Boos. “Ball State University has developed a rich volleyball tradition, and I look forward to leading the program to a new level of success. Muncie, Indiana, is a hotbed for the sport of volleyball. This is a community that understands and appreciates volleyball, and I look forward to exciting them about a new direction for Ball State volleyball.”

Despite a 5-25 (4-12 Mid-American Conference) record in his first season at the Ball State helm, the Cardinals showed improvement on the court, winning two of its final five matches and falling a few points shy of advancing to the quarterfinals of the 2007 MAC Tournament. Defensively, the Cardinals ranked among the league leaders in blocking, digging and opponent’s hitting percentage, while then-freshman Alyssa Rio ranked fourth in the MAC and 37th nationally with her 5.58 digs-per-set average.

The Cardinals continued to show improvement in 2008, posting a 12-21 overall record, while securing a seventh-place finish in MAC play with a 6-10 league ledger. BSU’s biggest league win of the season came on the road, when it defeated then-first place Miami (Oct. 25) in five sets. The Cardinals also advanced to the MAC Tournament quarterfinals, after picking up a first round home court victory over Eastern Michigan (Nov. 18).

Boos saw two of his recruits earn conference honors after the 2008 campaign with both Jennifer Boyd and Brittany McGinnis earning MAC All-Freshman accolades. In addition, Boyd was named Second Team All-MAC after ranking fifth in the league in hitting percentage at .313.

In his five seasons at Minnesota (2002-06) under head coach Mike Hebert, Boos helped guide the Gophers to a 142-38 overall and 80-20 Big Ten record, including the program’s first-ever appearance in the NCAA Division I National Championship match in 2004.

Boos, who graduated cum laude from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh with a bachelor of science degree in 1998, is married to the former Amy Ward. The couple currently resides in Yorktown, Ind.
